

CHAPTER 4

Student Educational Workstations (SEWs)

by Todd M. Gerecke

The Computer Based Instruction Laboratory (CBIL) manages remote computers installed as Student Educational Workstations (SEWs). The 14 Dell PCs with high-resolution monitors and LaserJet printers are located in team teaching rooms and other inpatient clinical areas of MCV Hospitals, VCU Health System. The SEWs are provided by the School of Medicine (SOM) for the purpose of supporting student and resident use of computer technology to manage information, support patient care decisions, and to enhance the quality of the clinical educational experience. Using the SEWs, students can access online databases maintained by VCU Libraries (including MEDLINE and MICROMEDEX), WebMail, the Veterans Affairs Medical Center (VAMC) information system, as well as all of the resources of CBIL, which include access to the Internet, online text retrieval, word processing, and other instructional software. The machines are maintained by CBIL staff.

How to Log Into CBIL from a SEW

Regardless of SEW location, access to CBIL is the same. A CBIL login ID will allow the user access to the workstation. For users who do not currently have a CBIL login ID, a generic login ID is available for use. Please call (804) 828-8319 for information on the generic login ID, general assistance, or questions.

1. Enter your CBIL Login ID in the Name data field. Press Tab.
2. Enter your Password. Press Enter.
3. Make your selections from the CBIL Menu.

How to Exit Your CBIL Account
